

Hilary Term 2018 Seminar Series*Population Ageing in Countries that have Experienced War, Revolution, and Economic Transition

Oxford Institute of Population Ageing
Seminar Room, 66 Banbury Road, Oxford, OX2 6PR
Thursdays 2:00 - 3:30 pm

18 January

International Comparison of the Impacts of War, Revolution, and Economic Transition on the Elderly: China, Japan, Korea (North and South), and Russia

Prof. Christopher Davis, Professorial Research Fellow of OIPA and Reader in Command and Transition Economies, Economics/Area Studies, University of Oxford

25 January

The Depopulation Dividend in Japan: The Impacts of Population Decline and Ageing on Society and the Environment

Prof. Peter Matanle, Senior Lecturer in Japanese Studies, School of East Asian Studies, University of Sheffield

1 February

Ageing in Rural China: Migration and Care Circulation

Prof. Jieyu Liu, Reader in Sociology and China Studies and Deputy Director SOAS China Institute

22 February

The Elderly in South Korea and North Korea During War and Peace, and Challenges Posed by Unification

Prof. Jay Lewis, Associate Professor of Korean History, Oriental Institute, Oxford University and Prof. Christopher Davis, Oxford Institute of Population Ageing

1 March

Health, Well-being and the Labour market: the Case of Elderly Russians

Prof. Christopher Gerry, Associate Professor of Russian and Eurasian Economies, Oxford University

8 March

The Role of Population Policies in Addressing Ageing in the BRICS Countries

Prof. Asghar Zaidi

Professor of International Social Policy, Social Sciences, University of Southampton

Convenor

Prof. Christopher Davis, OIPA
66 Banbury Road, Oxford, OX2 6PR
Tel: 01865-612800
christopher.davis@wolfson.ox.ac.uk