

Trinity Term 2015 Seminar Series

'Historical Demography – A Place in Modern Demography?'

Thursdays – 14:00 – 15.30

Seminar Room, Oxford Institute of Population Ageing, 66 Banbury Road, Oxford, OX2 6PR.

Convener: Dr George W Leeson

30th April:

'Recovering surviving census records to reconstruct population, economic and cultural history of Europe.'

Dr Siegfried Gruber, University of Graz

7th May:

'Life Under Pressure: Mortality and Living Standards in Europe and Asia, 1700-1900?'

Professor Tommy Bengtsson, Lund University

14th May:

'Peopling the Past: Current Studies in Paleodemography.'

Professor Andrew Chamberlain, University of Manchester

21st May:

'How much Venereal Disease was there in Georgian London? Can we estimate the population prevalence of STIs before the twentieth century?'

Professor Simon Szreter, University of Cambridge

28th May:

TBC

4th June:

'Marriage in crisis: WWI and behavioural change in Belgium'

Dr Saskia Hin, University of Leuven

11th June:

'Learning Hygiene: Mortality Patterns by Religion in the Don Army Territory (Southern Russia), 1867-1916'

Dr Noël Bonneuil, the French National Institute for Demographic Studies

18th June:

'The history of migration as a chapter in the history of the European rural family.'

Professor Michel Oris, University of Geneva