

Seminars - Michaelmas Term 2007
Thursdays, 12.30 p.m. – 2.00 p.m. - Seminar Room G

---

Economic Analysis of Morbidity: causes, trends and implications

Convenor: Dr Martin Karlsson

- 11 October      Professor Tommy Bengtsson, Lund University
Immigration and population ageing in Sweden
- 18 October      Dr Mireia Jofre-Bonet, City University
Developing an algorithm to obtain health related quality of life from visual function for glaucoma
- 25 October      Dr Michael Kuhn, Max Planck Institute for Demographic Research, University of Rostock
Health, Survival and Consumption over the Life Cycle: Individual versus Social Optimum and the Role of Externalities
- 01 November    Dr Joanna Coast, Health Services Management Centre, University of Birmingham
Measuring morbidity: developing a measure of capability for older people for use in economic analysis
- 08 November    Professor Martin Knapp, London School of Economics
Long-term links between childhood behavioural and emotional problems and adulthood economic outcomes; and how to break them?
- 15 November    Professor Paul Kind, Centre for Health Economics, University of York
From REVES to QALYs: issues in the valuation of health
- 22 November    Professor Alastair Gray, Health Economics Research Centre, University of Oxford
A lifetime model of outcomes and costs for diabetes
- 29 November    Dr Stavros Petrou, Health Economics Research Centre, University of Oxford
Economic Consequences of Pre-Term Birth